LATVIAN PHILHARMONIC CHAMBER OR-

PREVIEW

Michelle Shocked

Goodbye lonely troubador; hello "Capt. Swing." After the austere solo efforts on the "Texas Campfire Tapes" album and the solo tour she did after the Pete Anderson-produced follow-up, "Short, Sharp Shocked," Michelle Shocked is changing. She's now touring with a full band that includes two horns and keyboards capable of bolstering the horn section and filling in the strings found on her latest record.

The lyrics are far from a sell-out to pop evergreens; it's vintage Shocked. But the music ranges from boogie to swing to big band blues and is a pleasant surprise. A recommended performance. Shocked will perform today at 8 p.m. at the Bronco Bowl, 2600 Fort Worth Ave. Tickets are $19.50 (plus surcharge) at Rainbow-Ticketmaster, 787-2000.

Paul McCartney

He was "the cute Beatle," and now at 47, he's embracing that legacy by including 17 Beatle songs — most of which the Beatle's never performed in a concert — in his first world tour in 10 years. It's his first U.S. tour in 14 years.

As opposed to the early Beatle concerts, which were 30-minute appearances at which few people actually heard the act sing, McCartney's show is a 2½-hour program. It begins with a 20-minute documentary on him put together by "A Hard Day's Night" and "Help" film maker Richard Lester. The rest is pure-hammered McCartney. Considering that his return to the road has been slowly developing since a series of London jam sessions in 1987, McCartney's musical chops are expected to be in top form.

McCartney's concert Saturday night at Texas Stadium is sold out.
